

Quality policy

As an internationally recognized system partner for mechanical engineering and vehicle construction industry, we, the VOSS Fluid GmbH, are a leading provider of hydraulic coupling technology.

Based on decades of experience we take care of everything in the entire range of tasks from project planning and engineering through manufacture and assembly and special logistics services.

Our corporate culture is characterized by a willingness to perform and change, by integrity, openness, respect and reciprocal appreciation as well as maximum customer focus.

We assume the responsibility for the environment and society and fulfill high ethical standards.

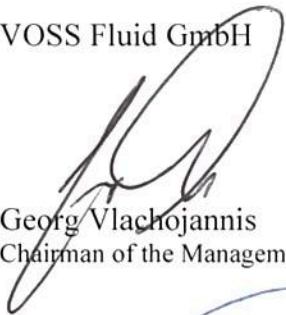

We strive for operative excellence and want to be in the vanguard of competition with respect to costs, efficiency, quality, delivery performance, speed and customer satisfaction.

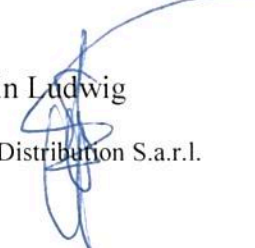

For our customers, suppliers and employees we want to be the first choice and an attractive, preferred business partner and employer.

We aim at sustainable growth to be able to continuously invest in the improvement of our products, processes and the further development of our employees. With this in mind we want to inspire our customers with value-creating innovations.
